

DONATE

Podcast Directory

Categories

Sponsors And Promo Codes

Marketplace Morning Report

From American Public Media

Get up to speed on the daily news first thing in the morning with Marketplace Morning Report. Hosted by David Brancaccio, Marketplace Morning Report keeps you informed on what you may have missed when you were sleeping, kicking off each weekday with a global business update from the BBC World Service in London. In less than ten minutes, you can start off your day with a recap of the top economic and business headlines with our daily news show and podcast. David Brancaccio brings you key news updates and economic happenings in real time throughout the morning. Catch Marketplace Morning Report live every Monday through Friday to get the latest news on the markets, money, jobs and innovation. David has been in broadcasting for more than three decades, serving as a longtime host for Marketplace and winner of both the DuPont-Columbia Award and George Foster Peabody Award. He and his team on PBS's NOW won two Emmy Awards in 2008, as well as the 2009 Walter Cronkite Award for Excellence in Television Political Coverage. Marketplace Morning Report daily news podcasts are also available worldwide on platforms included Apple Podcasts, Google, Spotify, Stitcher, RSS Feeds and any place else where you get your podcasts.

APPLE PODCASTS

RSS LINK

MOST RECENT EPISODES

AUGUST 3, 2020

With the dollar down, where are global investors turning instead?

People around the world are less interested in holding U.S. dollars during the pandemic. But that might not be as bad as it seems. Plus, U.S. action on Chinese companies may go beyond TikTok. Democrats and the White House can't agree on how to extend additional unemployment aid. And, amid calls for more police accountability, body cameras are getting more attention.

LISTEN · 9:42

PLAYLIST

Download

AUGUST 3, 2020

Tick-tock for TikTok? The latest on U.S.-China tensions

Last week, President Trump threatened to ban TikTok. Now, Microsoft says it's in talks to take over the app's U.S. operations. Where do things stand? Plus, Disney earnings this week. And, social impact investing is alive and well.

LISTEN · 8:15

PLAYLIST

Download

AUGUST 3, 2020

ByteDance urges U.S. to allow Microsoft-TikTok deal

From the BBC World Service: U.S. tech giant Microsoft has confirmed that it is continuing talks to purchase the U.S. operations of Chinese-owned video-sharing app TikTok. Europe's biggest bank, HSBC, sees profits plunge amid protests in Hong Kong, adding to COVID-19 pressures. And, two years on from a deadly bridge collapse in Genoa, the Italian city has inaugurated its replacement on the key transport route.

LISTEN · 7:18

PLAYLIST

Download

JULY 31, 2020

It turns out the pandemic also attacks the U.S. dollar

With just a few hours left of July, the dollar is set for its biggest monthly decline in a decade. Analysis finds that Black and Latino workers are having their state unemployment claims rejected at disproportionately higher rates, compared to white workers. And, the fight to save bananas from extinction.

LISTEN · 8:14

PLAYLIST

Download

JULY 31, 2020

Crushed by COVID-19, major European economies sink into recession

From the BBC World Service: The eurozone saw its largest contraction on record with declines of more than 10% each in Germany, France, Italy and Spain. Life after lockdown for a restaurant group in Lithuania. Airlines worry travel restrictions are stifling passenger demand.

LISTEN · 7:37

PLAYLIST

Download

JULY 31, 2020

Amazon's next frontier? Outer space.

Amazon has taken a big step to build out a network of satellites to beam high-speed internet service to underserved areas. Plus, there's concern from some, namely Republican lawmakers, that expanded jobless benefits keep people from returning to work. A Yale study this week finds that's not the case. And, fewer people are staying at hotels during the pandemic, and layoffs have followed.

LISTEN · 8:31

PLAYLIST

Download

JULY 30, 2020

The worst economic weakness we've seen

In the April-to-June pandemic quarter, GDP contracted at an annual rate of nearly 33%. And, at the regional level, economic activity declined far more in areas reliant on sectors like manufacturing and tourism. Plus, how Quebec is trying to help its local businesses stay afloat.

LISTEN · 8:31

PLAYLIST

Download

JULY 30, 2020

Any progress on Congress' push for new economic relief bill?

Democrats and Republicans appear no closer to reaching a deal on a coronavirus relief bill. What does Fed Chair Jerome Powell think about that? Plus, strong second-quarter earnings expected for Amazon. And, what utility PG&E can expect from a deal with Tesla.

LISTEN · 8:34

PLAYLIST

Download

JULY 30, 2020

Germany posts biggest economic plunge in half-century as U.S. readies figures

From the BBC World Service: Germany saw a large drop-off in consumer spending and in its vital export sector. China's Huawei takes Samsung's crown as the world's biggest smartphone seller. Kenya's flower industry starts to blossom again.

LISTEN · 7:33

PLAYLIST

Download

JULY 29, 2020

How did the titans of tech become so powerful?

CEOs of four of the world's most powerful companies are testifying before Congress today. Investors consider more second-quarter earnings reports, including those for GM and Boeing. And, you'll be able to watch Universal Pictures movies at home sooner after their releases thanks to a new deal with AMC.

LISTEN · 8:23

PLAYLIST

Download

LOAD MORE EPISODESRELATED PODCASTS

GPB

Georgia Today

NEPR

WAMC News Podcast

WAER-FM
Talkback

SCPR
California City

View All Podcasts from News

View All Podcasts from APM

READ & LISTEN

Home

News

Arts & Life

Music

Podcasts

Programs

CONNECT

Newsletters

Facebook

Twitter

Instagram

Contact

Help

ABOUT NPR

Overview

Finances

People

Press

Public Editor

Corrections

GET INVOLVED

Support Public Radio

Sponsor NPR

NPR Careers

NPR Shop

NPR Events

Visit NPR

terms of use

privacy

your privacy choices

text only

© 2020 npr